

Making Things a Little Better: Creative Design Contest to Improve Spaces at Uni (duct tape optional)

Uni students are incredibly innovative. That's why we are seeking your ideas for creative ways to improve the physical spaces at Uni without waiting for 'more money.'

If you see something that could be a little better, no matter how small, please suggest it and suggest a solution that you or others could create.

In fact, by coming up with a creative solution you could get money, $250 to be exact. We appreciate all submissions, but the owner of the best idea will be nominated for the Wylde Q. Chicken award, putting them in the running for real cash at the end of the year. For more info (<http://wyldeq.net>)

Additionally, the Uni PFO will initially select 2 of the best proposed solutions and work with the students to pursue that solution. If many great solutions are proposed, the PFO will, over time, pursue as many as possible.

The deadline for submissions for this year is APRIL 9TH!

However, the form will continue to be open for students who will be returning in the fall!

The link to the form is below and was sent as an email to all students on March 16th. It is also on the Uni website.

Looking forward to hearing your creative solutions!
